

T. S. HUGHES WRITES INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF RECENT TRIP

Leaving Strathmore 10:30 Tuesday morning, January 7th, and going to the south road being blocked by Vul can it be necessary for us to drive into Calgary, and south from there to Lethbridge where we stopped for lunch, and then on to the border.

The American Customs at Sweet grass put us through a very stiff examination but we were finally successful in convincing them that we were merely out for a holiday, and would not likely be requiring any relief while in the United States.

We then drove to Shelby, Mon. from where we had originally intended to take the No. 2 highway through N. Dakota and Minnesota, but owing to the roads being blocked through these states it was necessary for us to continue on South to Great Falls, Mon. where we spent the night.

From there we angled southeast down to Sheridan, Wyo., and then on to Casper. This portion of the trip was not very interesting as far as scenery was concerned, as the highway following Wyoming takes in a very barren and hilly country. From Casper, Wyo., we went east through Nebraska where we hit some exceptional good roads and very fine weather.

It was in this state that we experienced the only car trouble which we had during the entire trip, and that was three flats in the front wheels.

From there on we drove east through Iowa and Illinois, and arrived in Chicago Sunday afternoon where we saw a couple hours of the city, and then drove for an Elkhart, Ind., where we spent the night.

We arrived at Detroit early the next afternoon, and after driving around for some time we finally found a suitable place to spend a few days. We left Detroit our headquarters, we went over to Windsor and spent half a day taking in the Canadian part of the trip.

At Detroit Co. We also spent quite one day in River Rouge Plant at Dearborn, which is a wonderful sight. In this one plant they had at this time seventy thousand cars on the payroll, and were turning out approximately fifty-five hundred cars a day.

From there we went to Greenfield Village, which is on the outskirts of Detroit, and is a small village built at enormous cost by Mr. Ford to display all the old historical places, and are permitted in Greenfield Village, but you are driven from building to building in one of the old style cars drawn by a lovely team of horses, and while it would be impossible for us to tell about the details of the trip, we saw in this place, we would like to mention a few of them.

The first is the old chair house, in which Abraham Lincoln sat in the practice law, and in this building is the chair (in a glass case) in which Lincoln was sitting when he was assassinated, and the blood stains are still quite discernable on the cushions.

The first place was in 1927 by Thomas A. Edison, and this fire has been burning continually since that time. The next building we came to was the old laboratory in which Mr. Edison discovered the electric light. All his experiments and material is there just as it was on the day he made the great discovery, and to give you an idea of the pains taken in making these places look as natural as possible, Mr. Ford has even gone to the great extent of bringing in the original trees surrounding these buildings in their original location up to Greenfield Village, and putting them just as they stood in their original location.

He has even gone so far as to move up the old boarding house where Mr. Edison and his staff lived in, also the very street lights, the very next building, which we entered, was an exceptionally large one with a wonderful theatre floor, which has been built for five hundred years. In this building he has practically every old style piece of farm machinery that was used and even the train engine, the engine and three or four coaches, on which Thomas Edison acted as a newsboy on this train as a newsboy. Mr. Edison was experimenting in the baggage car with some of his electrical equipment, and accidentally set the baggage car on fire. The train was brought to a stop at what is known as Smith Creek station where he was with his younger son, and when this event Mr. Ford has gone to the expense of moving the Smith Creek station to Greenfield Village, and now stands in its natural location right along the railroad track. To celebrate the opening of this famous train in 1927 this old train was driven, under its own power, to Washington, D. C., where it is now the President of the United States. Thomas A. Edison and several other celebrities, and on the trip back Mr. Edison went up and down the railroads, and newspapers and confectionery just as he did when he was a boy. While we have only mentioned two or three of the interesting places to be seen in Greenfield Village, we can assure you that if you are ever in Detroit you can spend a very interesting day in looking over numerous other historical buildings and machines that are to be seen there.

After leaving Detroit, we drove to St. Louis, Mo., where we spent two or three days with relatives. Here the weather was very rough, and we had a very interesting travelling very treacherous, in fact we were confronted with this same condition practically all through the States, and when we spent one night at Lancaster, Kent., which is only a few miles from where Uncle Tom's cabin still stands, and around which the famous story was written.

Kentucky and Tennessee have experienced one of the worst winters in their history, and we were in for a short time on one of the main highways in Kentucky owing to a grey-bond like being stuck in a snow drift. We then drove to Chattanooga, Tenn., but from there on down through the South, the weather was good, and the roads exceptionally good.

We crossed the old Swannee River in Southern Florida, where we spent our first night in Florida at Tampa, which is a very nice city but more of a commercial center than a tourist spot. We then drove to Miami, where we were met by Mr. and Mrs. Myers where Harvey S. Firestone and Henry Ford have their winter home.

Crossing the southern end of the State of Florida from Mr. Myers to Miami, a distance of approximately four hundred miles, we saw a very low swampy country which they call the Everglades, and practically the only inhabitants living on the Everglades are the Seminole Indians, who make a living by trapping and catching alligators etc. They generally live in straw or grass huts built up four or five feet out of the ground.

We finally arrived at Miami about four p.m. on January 23rd, and prepared to leave for St. Louis the next day. During our thirty days stay in this city the weather was lovely except for three or four days of rain, and even then it was not too bad. The city is strictly a tourist resort, and this past season has been one of the best in its history. The weather has been very good, and the city is very clean, and in fact they run a train right from New York to Miami every day, and one day this train came in in twelve coaches. This is a beautiful city with a wonderful climate (during the winter) in fact there was not a day during our entire stay but it was quite warm enough to enjoy a swim. They have plenty of beautiful golf courses and also what is claimed to be the most beautiful horse track in the world, which is known as Hialeah Park. Four big dog tracks operate there seven nights a week during the winter months, and the dogs are taken that leave every day on deer sea fishing trips, which we found to be most thrilling, and we had the opportunity of seeing several sharks and porpoises on these trips.

Before leaving Miami we drove up to Key West, which is the southern end of the Key Islands which is as far as a car can go, and where we saw the results of the big tidal wave which struck the islands, and which killed considerably over one thousand people. It was on this trip that we stopped in an orange grove and four or five picked out a hundred and eighty oranges right off the trees for $2.00, which is slightly cheaper than the price of oranges in St. Louis.

Another very interesting thing is to go down into the Pan-American Sea Plane Base, which is approximately 100 miles from the center of Miami, and see the planes come in. Every evening from four to six o'clock there are five large sea planes flying in from the center of Miami, two from Cuba, one from Panama, and one from South America. In fact, these planes coming in that we finally Strathmore is soon to lose another family member. The beloved son of our town, this time it is Mr. T. Milson, who has been appointed to an enviable position with the Lethbridge Collieries. In accepting this position Mr. Milson severs his connection with the C. P. R. and in his special department. Mrs. Milson and children will have to reside in Lethbridge as soon as they can locate a home.

Given and Marion Gilbert and Gaylon Robison will play over C.F.A.C. in connection with the amateur broadcast Saturday between 7 and 7:30 p.m. Their friends will be eagerly tuning in at this hour and sympathetically listening.

SPORT IN STRATHMORE IN THE EARLY DAYS
—O—
Appropos of the Complimentary Banquet to our Hockey Team Thursday night we copy the following item from one of the early files of the Strathmore Herald, which was the first of our Hockey Team during the last 2 or 3 years would show they are living up to the high standard set in the first years of the team.

SPORT IN STRATHMORE
—O—
There were numerous athletic operations in Strathmore, and these have proved their worth in many a hard fought fight or risk in competition with teams from the other towns in the district.

In the winter time passed we had an extra good hockey season, and many good games were played. The teams from the three towns in the district, Haddon, Glenora and Strathmore were very evenly matched. The Strathmore aggregation was composed of H. Cook, Tommy Wright, Harold Wright, J. Frost, J. S. Barker, A. M. Strick and Charlie Lloyd. A very good skating season was enjoyed at the rink which was conducted by Mr. W. G. Kayett.

Just now the baseball season is opening. Strathmore has always had a good bunch of ball players, and we have every reason to believe that this year's team will be even better than in the past.

decided to make a trip to Havana, Cuba, but on making application at the Pan-American ticket office, we found that we could not obtain passage for at least two weeks. Passage to Nassau was booked three weeks ahead and to South America over the Canadian route was booked in many a day. While we were in Miami one of the Blue Star liners from Southampton, England, decided to drop its way to the Hawaiian Islands via the Panama, and among the notables on this boat was Sir George Bernard Shaw, the world's champion fighter, who claims to be the best man in the world. This, of course, will be proven in the near future.

BIG 5 HOCKEY
—O—
Three teams from the Big Five League took advantage to play exhibition games in the Calgary Arena last Friday, where a fairly good crowd was on hand to witness a couple of exciting games.

The first between Delacour and C. Butler found the latter club on the end of a 5-4 score, after 60 minutes of hard fought hockey had been played.

After a 20 minute rest period C. Butler skated back onto the ice to meet Langdon who defeated them by a 5 to 1 score. The Langdon club actually had the advantage of fresh players against the tiring Chaudin Butler team, who put in 120 minutes for the night.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your system daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It is stored in the bowels. One liver pill gives your stomach a prompt movement. Bile is secreted in the bowels and goes from the liver to the bowels. A cure (Laxative) does not always get to the bowels. You need something that will get to the liver as well. It takes three good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing. Bile is the life blood of the body. It is the work of the liver to keep the body healthy. They do the work of the liver. And for Carter's Little Liver Pills by mail $1.00 before anything else. See.

MASTER CODE IS EFFECTIVE, APRIL 1

Effective April 1st, the general Master Code for the retail trade will provide for listing a maximum price on goods to safeguard the consumer. The general fee is $2.50 with additional fee of $1.00 for further licenses. The sale of perishable and retail trades will operate, such as in his own particular field, a merchant who deals in a number of lines of goods will be required to buy additional licenses, only when he handles one of these exclusively.

In a community where there are only general stores, no additional fees will be required regardless of the number of lines of articles handled. Provisions of the act include the term "Retail Trade," meaning all selling of goods or merchandise to the consumer, except hawkers and peddlers governed by the Act of that name. The term "Loss Leader" means merchandise featured at prices easily distinguished at less than customary. Such prices used to attract people to the stores with the idea of purchasing other articles at higher profit.

A provincial organization will be formed with a minister and advisory committee. The membership fee is designed to cover the cost of operation and every merchandising business must be licensed.

A minimum price may be set on any article, when such is sold retail at a price less than laid down cost to the general retail, together with the fair cost of carrying.

VANCOUVER CELEBRATES

This year the City of Vancouver celebrates its Golden Jubilee. The Canadian Pacific Railway carries Vancouver on the 4th of July, 1886, when its first transcontinental passenger train which left Montreal on the 28th of June, so that organization is also celebrating the Fiftieth Anniversary of its Across Canada service. It was fifty years ago, also, that the Dominion Government system of Experimental Farms was established. In Canada, and 150 years ago, in 1786, when John Strueng arrived at Nootka Sound and together with members of the crew of his ship planted the first garden seeds at that point on Vancouver Island.

The Coast Province of British Columbia appears destined to enjoy a happy year. The improvement in trade in manufacturing, production, in shipping, in agriculture, forestry and fishing, mining and other developments is such that with this anniversary will come more prosperous conditions, and certainly a great influx of visitors to view the various activities. It will be arranged during the spring and summer months in celebration of so important an event.

GLASS INDUSTRY

The glass industry of Canada experienced a considerable increase in activity in 1934. As compared with the year previous the value of the output showed a gain of twenty-five per cent. The Canadian industry supplied nearly two thirds of the home demand for glass in 1934 and imports a little more than a third. Imports likewise were marked by increase in their value being thirty-two per cent. The increase in the output of the home industry (1934) was noted chiefly in the production of bottles and jars while the largest elements in imports were plate glass and window glass. The Canadian industry is beginning to develop an export trade but this so far has been relatively small.

GLENCAIRN

A large number of young people gathered in the Culmair School on March 26th to celebrate Mr. and Mrs.
 George Watson. The first piece of extra supplied the music for the dancing which, outside of "cigar smoke" was the main event of the evening. Dancing continued until 2:30 when the party broke up, everyone wishing the young couple every success in the future.

A meeting of the C.F.W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Ashley on March 18th. Mrs. H. Risdon gave a very interesting report on the convention. Officers were elected for the year. Mrs. Walter Risdon was elected Sec. Treas. and Mrs. S. Kerek. Vice President while Mrs. Downey was again elected President. After the meeting a delightful lunch was served by the hostess.

A shower was held in honor of Mrs. George Watson (nee Irene Ryan) March 26th at the home of Mrs. Downey. The many beautiful and useful gifts pulled in by Mary

Martha and Buddy Downey. After lunch a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed with music and singing.

Mrs. Watson, Sr. with her daughter Stella left for Chicago where they will spend a few weeks visiting relatives.

CARSELAND

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Melendy and Mr.
 and Mrs. G. Portney have returned on a trip south where they spent the winter months.

At the home of G. C. Melendy Saturday evening friends gathered in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gardner, who are shortly moving to Montreal where they will in future reside. The occasion was an advance celebration of their silver wedding anniversary, and also a farewell. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Melendy, who spoke of the almost 25 years the couple of home have spent in this district. The gifts consisted of a chest of silver and farewell tokens.
 Mr. and Mrs. Gardner replied, thanking their friends for the gifts, and also expressing their regrets at leaving the community.

ROCKYFORD GARAGE

Mrs. F. W. Gibson, Mgr. Rockyford, Alta.

Alberta is a funny province. We are to be forced to pay a license to work so that we can earn money with which to pay higher income taxes.
 —Lethbridge Herald.

The French language is full of idioms. How about English? A Frenchman and an Englishman were taking a boat journey. The Englishman in the upper berth became upset with the rocking of the boat. He put his head outside and shouted "Look out!" The Frenchman did! So what?
